Dear UsenetShack,

Thank you very much for your quick reply.

We would be glad to comment on the remarks mentioned in your article at www.usenetshack.com.

UseNeXT, a service which provides access to the Usenet, is a product of Aviteo Ltd. Contrary to your opinion the company was founded in 2004.

Beside some general information we would like to comment on the aspects you mentioned concerning our business practices.

- "If you're going to offer a free trial, let people cancel it within the time specified."

“Unless I cancel within the test period, or upgrade to a different subscription package, I agree to join for only $11.32*/6.68 (7.95 Euro in EU-Countries) Euro per month - for a period of 12 months (80.13 Euro per year in non-EU-countries/95.35 Euro incl. I understand that I may cancel at any time, such that my subscription is not renewed upon expiry. I acknowledge that unless I wish for my account to be automatically renewed for a further service period, I must provide notice of my wish not to renew, at least one day before the end date of the current term.”

In the course of registration users are also made aware of potential charges the contract entails. Furthermore, the Terms & Conditions are sent via e-mail immediately after registration.

Payment method

“If it's a free trial, why do you need my credit card?”

It says “Free registration”, why do I have to enter bank / credit card information? Our free trial offers you the possibility to let yourself be convinced by our service. If you should not enjoy UseNeXT for any reason, you can easily end your membership within the trial period by simply clicking on “Cancellation” in your member area.

If you decide to keep on using our service when the free trial period has ended, you can do so without any interruption whatsoever. To offer you this kind of service, your payment information has to be provided, even for the free trial. Of course, your bank account / credit card will only be charged if you decide to stay a UseNeXT customer after the free trial is over.

- “A faster responding and polite payments team, cancellations in the free trial period should not take longer than 24 hours.”

Our support team is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Listed below are various ways to get in contact with us:

- “Stop with the skill reviews, it makes the company look unprofessional.”

We are in no way connected to “jack0n” who posted (Fri Jan 30, 2009 11:02 am) on <http://www.slyck.com/forums/viewtopic.php?f=9&t=26238&start=50#p505182> in our favour.

This self-proclaimed #1 UseNeXT supporter is not an employee of Aviteo Ltd. Posting skill reviews on our product is not our way of advertising our service, instead we prefer to convince with the quality of our product. We are neither related to nor do we wish to be associated with any kind of forum discussion about UseNeXT. In contrast, we support freedom of opinion on the Internet. We appreciate constructive criticism as well as positive feedback from our customers.

- “Stop claiming “big sites” like the ex-mininova supported you.”

It is true that we promote our service using various methods, including affiliate marketing and co-operations, which in our opinion is a legitimate and common practice. We would be glad to comment on this specific case if you provided more details.

- “Two companies CCI Legal and Pro Faktura are chasing former accounts”

Yes, CCI Legal and Pro Faktura are working for us in accordance with the respective laws depending on the customer’s domicile.

Imposing a fee for provision of services is a common consequence. Outstanding payments induced by contract prolongation must be settled. If a customer is unwilling to pay the original invoice, a collection procedure will be initiated.

Concerning the user complaints cited on your blog, we would be glad to comment on these remarks as well if you provided more details.

Kind regards,

Aviteo Ltd.
